

MY POWER

words & music: hocky

with all you have to go through on your way all the blood sweat and tears with all they wanna sell you day by day all your dreams and hopes and fears with all the memories you could keep inside all the things you had to leave behind all the secrets that you had to hide and all the ones who treated you so kind for they can't take away my power they can't take my power away cause after all i have gone through

maybe i still have to work it all out maybe i still have to make lots of mistakes maybe i will have to leave behind my doubts cause in the end i'll get what it takes i have a vision i have a vision, my friend and now, now i know for sure that i will win in the end

cause after all i have gone through

SOLO

cause after all we have gone through
after all i have gone through after all we have gone through they can't take my power away, alright
